service against odds It is for 5668/L Consideration, if his services may not be extended by one more year at least. His capacity for work & Engineering Skill are too well known and he can be asked to adjust himself to the need of the situation. It would be nothing more than a recognition of his merit, if he could be given an Extension. He has energy quite fit.

"CONFIDENTIAL"

Dear Mr Pallaradhya,

With reference to your Confidential letter No.L.6649, dated the 11th January 1946, regarding the grant of an extension to Mr Y. Ramaswami, I write to state that in my opinion it is not desirable to continue him as the Trust Board Engineer beyond the period of the present sanction

Mr Ramaswami may be a capable Engineer, but I very much doubt whether by temperment he is well fitted to be the principal executive subordinate of a body like the Trust Board No one objects to his holding strong views in regard to questions pertaining to town improvement or to expressing them boldly and un-reservedly But the Board expects its Engineer Officer to modify his schemes or draw up schemes, in conformity with its views and opinions, and to carry out its decisions implicitly without attempting to shape them to his own likeing Mr Ramaswami has queer notions about his powers & functions, and is apt to do things in his own way and subsequently advance untenable argements in justification of his conduct He is inclined to forget that Town Planning and Development is not a mere technical problem but that it has also a social and human side to it. Even in regard to matters of pure engineering, he has set views on every aspect of town planning, and cannot be brought to see that there may be something worth considering in the other man's point of view. He strikes me as a person with a closed mind which is almost impervious to persuasion or argument. I have formed these conclusions after close association with Mr. Ramaswami during the last four months. In conclusion, I may add that he is past the age of superannuation, and it seems to me that it is very desirable that the Board should be given the services of a younger and more energetic officer.

Yours sincerely,

K Sreenivasa Rao
